Staff Appointments

DR. ROBIN HARRIS has been appointed principal of Innis College, the new multi-faculty college which will open in temporary quarters on the campus this autumn. Plans are under way for a permanent building, which will be a sister institution to New College, now under construction. The College is named to honour the late Prof. Harold A. Innis, who was Dean of the School of Graduate Studies and Head of the Department of Political Economy at the time of his death in 1952.

Dr. Harris, who took his B.A. and M.A. at Toronto and his Ph.D. at Michigan, is Professor of English in University College and Acting Principal of the College this year. He is an authority on the history and growth of higher education in Canada. He has also been concerned with primary and secondary education and served for four years on the Toronto and Metropolitan Toronto school boards.

PROF. CLIFFORD LEECH will succeed PROF. A. S. P. WOODHOUSE as Chairman of the Department of English in University College on July 1. Prof. Leech holds M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from London University. He taught at the Universities of Wales and Durham before coming here as a Visiting Professor in 1962, and headed the Durham English Department from 1954 to 1963. Dr. Leech's special field is Elizabethan and Jacobean drama. His publications include books on Shakespeare, Webster, Ford, Fletcher and Eugene O'Neill. Recently he completed an anthology of critical writings on Shakespeare's tragedies which is to appear in a series published jointly by the University of Toronto and the University of Chicago Presses. Dr. Leech is General Editor of the Revels Plays, a series whose seventh and eighth volumes are to appear this year. He is a member of the Editorial Board of Studies in English Literature and of the Honorary Committee of Critical Quarterly.

Prof. Woodhouse has been a member of the Department of English for over thirty years, its Head in University College twenty, and in the School of Graduate Studies for seventeen years. His activities included the re-organization of the Honours course and shaping the policies of the Graduate Department. Prof. Woodhouse has produced Puritanism and Liberty, the Humanities in Canada with Watson Kirkconnell, and a wide range of articles and reviews on Milton, 17th century thought, the origins of Romanticism, Literary Criticism, and the Humanities. He is a member of the editorial boards, and responsible for a volume in each, of the Columbia Variorum Commentary on Milton's Poetry, the Yale edition of Milton's Prose Works, and the Toronto edition of John Stuart Mill.

MISS CHARITY L. GRANT will succeed MRS. MARY QUAYLE INNIS as Dean of Women in University College on July 1 next. Miss Grant has been Liaison Officer for the Toronto Area, Canadian Citizenship

Branch, Department of Citizenship and Immigration since 1956. Previously she was Welfare Visitor and later Supervisor with the Department of Public Welfare, Toronto. Miss Grant was educated at the University of Toronto, where she earned B.A. and M.S.W. degrees, and at Vienna, where she studied Art and German. From 1939, when she joined the Canadian Red Cross Society's National Women's War Work Committee, she was in war work and postwar work with immigrants and displaced persons until 1952. During this period she served for three years with the Department of Munitions and Supply; was Director of five camps for displaced persons in the American zone of Germany for UNRRA; was Immigration Officer for the Canadian government selecting immigrants from German refugee camps; and was with the Unemployment Insurance Commission placing immigrants and handling welfare problems among them.

Mrs. Innis, retiring after nine years as Dean of Women, intends to continue writing on Canadian history. Her Travellers West was published during her tenure here. Previous publications include Stand on a Rainbow, a novel; An Economic History of Canada; Unfold the Years, a history of the Y.W.C.A. in Canada; Changing Canada, a series on economic history for schools; short stories in Canadian and American magazines; and articles on Canadian economic history.

NEVILLE S. C. DICKINSON has been appointed Administrative Officer of Scarborough College. For the past ten years he has been with the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, for the last six years in France as representative in Europe of the Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic. Mr. Dickinson earned his B.A. degree at Queen's University and studied law at Cambridge. In World War II he was with the Royal Canadian Navy, which he rejoined when the Korean war began. During his service he was in personnel relations and administration for ten years, and in this period commanded six major warships. Between the wars, Mr. Dickinson was a master at Upper Canada College, where he had also taught from 1935 until the outbreak of war.

DR. Z. I. SABRY joined the School of Hygiene staff as Associate Professor in the Department of Nutrition on Feb. 1. He has been Associate Professor and Head of the Division of Food Technology and Nutrition at the American University of Beirut, Lebanon. There his research studies were related to protein and amino acid metabolism. Recently he has been instrumental in the development of a protein-rich supplement for infant feeding in the Middle East. Dr. Sabry was educated in Egypt and at the University of Massachusetts and Pennsylvania State University. He also spent a year in the laboratories in the Food and Drug Directorate under an NRC Fellowship.

BRIAN LAND has been appointed Director of the Library School, succeeding Miss BERTHA BASSAM, who will retire on June 30. Mr. Land, Associate Librarian of the University, is research assistant to the Hon. Walter Gordon, Minister of Finance while on leave this year. He holds a Master's degree in Library Science, and a Master of Arts degree in Political Science from this University. Before joining the staff here in 1959, Mr. Land was associate editor of Canadian Business, and previously was on the staffs of the Toronto Public Library, and the Windsor Public Library, where he was in charge of the business and industry division. In 1962-63 he was president of the Institute of Professional Librarians of Ontario; Vice-President of the Ontario Library Association; and a Council member of the Canadian Library Association.

Miss Bassam, director of the Library School since 1951, worked with the first director from 1928 in formulating policy and establishing practice. She has taken part in all the School's developments, including accreditation by the American Library Association and the establishment in 1950 of a course leading to the Master of Library Science degree. Educated at Queen's University, the Pratt Institute in New York, and at Columbia, Miss Bassam worked for several years in the Princeton and Columbia university libraries.

PROFESSOR M. F. GRAPKO has been appointed Acting Director of the Institute of Child Study during the leave of absence of DR. K. S. BERNHARDT. Dr. Grapko received his B.A. from the University of Manitoba, and his M.A. and Ph.D. at the University of Toronto. He has been associated with the Institute for ten years and currently holds a cross-appointment in the Department of Psychology. Dr. Grapko's main research interest has been in the construction and validation of security tests for school-age children, and he has been a recipient of National Health Grants for the last four years to assist in research on children's cognitive and language development as well as security test construction.

Discontinuation of Children's Summer Swimming Program

The University's Athletic Association regrets that it will not be able to offer its summer swimming program for children of University members and friends in the summer of 1964.

Students in courses for secondary school teachers specializing in physical education, to be directed by the Ontario College of Education this year, and the increased number of summer school students under the Division of Extension will require the facilities of the pool at hours previously used for the Association's summer program, which has been in successful operation since 1954. It is planned to resume the project when facilities permit.

The University Settlement, 23 Grange Road, will co-operate on a limited basis for boys and girls who wish to use the pool there. For information telephone Jane Young, Physical Education Director, at Empire 4-9133.

STAFF BULLETIN is published by the Department of Information, University of Toronto, and edited by Mrs. Winogene Ferguson. This is the last issue for the current session. Copy for the October, 1964 issue must reach the Editor (Room 226, Simcoe Hall) by September 15.
